BLIZZARDS BRING FURTHER MISERY TO FLOOD VICTIMS IN NETHERLANDS LOWLANDS

Amsterdam, The Netherlands (AP) — New blizzards bring like icy whiplashes over the Dutch floodlands brought their hazards and misery today to the men repairing land's shattered dikes.

The wind-whipped water, snow and ice complicated the engineering problems of the ceaseless effort to mend temporarily the vast protective network before the next flood on Feb. 16. Government engineers thought they could the job.

The rough weather, however, threatened to ground Dutch, American and British plans flying in vital supplies. Despite the bad weather, three of Holland's young princes flew over the snow-fanned flood areas yesterday.

Their father, Prince Bernhard, sent Princesses Beatrix, 15, Irene, 13, and Margriet, 10, into the sky because, he explained, young as they were, he felt they should see how much their country had suffered.

Their mother, Queen Juliana, meanwhile led her people in a day of mourning. Men and women of all denominations flocked to churches to pray for their dead and those bereaved by last week's great flood.

The three-nation air fleet ignored the worsening weather to continue airdrops. They delivered 40,000 sandbags, rubber boots, lamps and other equipment. Other crews continued pumping the salty water from the vast flooded areas, preparatory to beginning the battle to reclaim the once-fertile acres and to strengthen the dike system so that never again could the sea breach it.

The death toll from the floods rose to 1,395 in the Netherlands today. Unofficial list compiled by newspapers put the total at close to 2,000 dead. Combined with Britain's 546 dead and Belgium's 23, the official death toll for the Jan. 31-Feb. 1 storm and flood now stands at 1,964.

Gen. Mark Clark disclosed in Tokyo that Washington had authorized a two-division boost in the South Korean Army, which increases it to 14 divisions with a strength of 200,000 men. However, he added that it did not mean the U. S. divisions would be released from front-line duty in the immediate future.

South Korean pilots flying propeller-driven Mustangs took part today's strikes against Chinese positions and rear area supply dumps.

Gov. Fine's Legislative Chiefs Pave Way for Action on Bill To Revise State Constitution

A.F.L. Plans a New Attack on T-H Law

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — The American Federation of Labor is prepared to launch a new and specialized attack on the Taft-Hartley labor law.

It's expected to focus on 19 or 20 major points.

AFL action will follow a statement issued yesterday by the CIO Executive Board in Washington criticizing changes proposed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) in the Taft-Hartley Act.

Harrisburg (AP) — The first major administration bill was expected to reach the floor of the House late today as the General Assembly temporarily bypassed the tax question.

Legislative lieutenants of Gov. John S. Fine worked during the pre-session hours to pave the way for action on a bill setting up machinery to revise the 79-year-old State Constitution.

The House State Government Committee was expected to act on the bill in the late afternoon with all signs pointing to quick approval.

Another top administration matter—a Fair Employment Practices Commission Bill—was expected to be started through the legislative mill either tonight or tomorrow. That measure would ban job discrimination because of race, creed or color.

The two bills are expected to occupy most of the lawmakers' attention until they get down to the brass tacks of deciding on taxes shortly after Feb. 15.

Republicans are holding off any possible tax program until they look over reports of Fine's special tax study and government economy committees.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson (McKean), Republican floor leader, said he is shooting for a Feb. 24 deadline on his constitutional convention bill. That is the first date on which election petitions may be submitted for the 1953 primary.

With the legislative machinery just getting started, only a handful of bills—all of a minor nature—have reached the floor of the two chambers. Another 200 are being studied in committee.

Legislative leaders huddled with the governor last night to lay plans for moving the legislative session through the House and Senate.

Washington (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okl.) said today President Eisenhower's new secretary of agriculture is "sowing the seeds" for a Republican defeat in 1954 by not stopping the decline of farm prices.

He predicted the Republicans will lose Congress in the next election if Eisenhower keeps Ezra Taft Benson in his Cabinet and if Benson doesn't "act to halt the drop in beef and other farm prices."

Kerr made this prediction after Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) accused Democrats of trying to use the farm situation—Aiken said it was inherited from the Democrats—as an issue to recapture Congress.

Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the new administration expects prices of cattle, wheat and other farm products to stabilize. He said Benson "is not going to be stamped into doing anything."

Kerr last week introduced a bill to direct federal price support of beef cattle at full parity out of 25 million dollars of agriculture funds.

Kerr said Benson has authority under legislation expiring at the end of 1954 to support beef prices at 90 per cent of parity, but has not done so. Parity is a price declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and consumers.

A Democrat who once was secretary of agriculture, Sen. Anderson of New Mexico, said the slump in beef sales had natural causes and should have been foreseen by cattlemen.

SCHEDULE OF LEGISLATION AGREED UPON

Washington, (AP)—Top congressional Republican leaders said today they had reached agreement with President Eisenhower on a wide program of legislation.

Sen. Taft (R-O.), Republican floor leader, said after a White House call that congress is shooting for a July 4 adjournment and he believed it could be achieved.

Taft gave this quick rundown on subjects which he said will be taken up by Congress in this session and which he said he is certain of approval.

They are:

1. Reorganization of executive departments and agencies.

2. Appropriation bills to be ready for action by the Senate not later than May 15.

3. Statehood for Hawaii.

4. Amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

5. Limited extension of some controls on prices and allocations in critical situations.

6. Tidelands oil land ownership, which probably will mean action by Congress to return control of the offshore oil deposits to the states.

7. Extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act.

8. Action to simplify customs procedures.

9. Extension of the old age and survivors insurance, to cover groups presently excluded.

10. Extension of aid to schools in critical areas.

11. The addition of two commissioners for the District of Columbia.

The report on legislative plans followed the regular Monday morning meeting between Eisenhower and the Capitol leaders. Taft and Sen. McNamara (R-Calif.) said in advance that they were ready to lay before Eisenhower a series of suggestions for action.

RIOTING IN MENTAL HOSPITAL IS PROBED

Crownsville, Md. (AP)—A weekend riot of insane criminals at Crownsville State Hospital was still under investigation today as officials ran into a new uprising of angry neighboring residents.

Mrs. Robert C. Adams, outspoken critic of conditions at the Negro mental institution, challenged the legality of using it to confine murderers and robbers.

Wayne Loneragan, Anne Arundel County manager, suggested that protests be "toned down" but said maybe the state should set up an island prison for insane criminals.

Boss of Hungarian State Police Ousted

Budapest, Hungary (AP)—The Hungarian government has ousted the boss of the country's powerful state police. Minister of Justice Gyula Decsi.

A one-sentence communique in yesterday's papers announced the dismissal but did not give any reason. The announcement said only that Decsi had been replaced in the Cabinet by Bela Kovacs, apparently a newcomer to Hungarian ruling circles.

The American-sponsored Red-White-Radio in Vienna, Austria, said Decsi had been kicked out of his job and arrested along with his deputy defense minister, Col. Gen. Sandor Nogradi, and the chief of the Hungarian secret police, Lt. Gen. Gabor Peter. The broadcast said all three are Jews.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED
Pittsburgh (AP)—The body of Walter Riley, 65-year-old blacksmith, was found in a shallow creek in front of his home in nearby Shaler Township yesterday. Death was attributed to a skull fracture. Police said Riley apparently slipped and fell from an eight-foot retaining wall.

Shirley explained she hadn't been told the entry had to be original. Gallant Oklahoma solons have promised her a "specially conducted" White House tour.

Coed Believed on Trip With Young Boy Friend

Lewisburg (AP)—The 10-day disappearance of an 18-year-old coed has failed to change the opinion of local police and Bucknell College officials who believe she simply "went off on a trip."

Police Chief Gordon Huffnagle and Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Bucknell dean of women, today repeated their original assumption that Jacqueline Jane Mengone, Trenton, N. J., freshman, has simply "taken off for Florida with a 16-year-old friend."

PROSPECTS OF UNITY ABROAD ENCOURAGING

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles returned from Europe today "encouraged" over prospects of European unity.

Dulles and Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen arrived at 9:30 a. m., from Luxembourg, completing a 10-day fact-finding survey of seven West European nations.

Dulles said he expected to confer with President Eisenhower later in the day.

Stassen drove directly to the White House. Dulles followed 15 minutes later.

When they arrived, Eisenhower was meeting with congressional leaders. The President's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told reporters Dulles and Stassen would not attend that meeting but would talk with the President later.

The secretary of state told newsmen he and Stassen were "encouraged by what we have been told by leaders" of the West European states.

Dulles had warned the European nations that they must get together on a plan for a joint West European army or else the United States might be forced to "rethink" its foreign aid program.

Dulles told newsmen he "knew nothing" about talk of a China blockade.

Told that there had been discussions of a blockade as a counter-blow against Communist China, Dulles said:

"It's something that would be discussed in Washington."

Dulles and Stassen come home to find a collection of problems ranging from the Korean War to matters of personnel and organization, no less burdensome than when they left 10 days ago. Their first task was to give Eisenhower an account of their impressions.

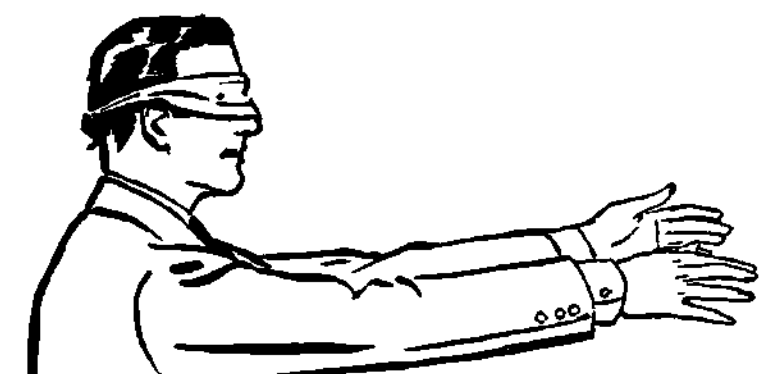

Dulles is understood to have followed what the Europeans regarded as a very firm line about the need which the Eisenhower administration sees for urgency in unifying and strengthening Europe's defenses.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany said Dulles had set April 1 as the deadline for getting "clear and visible signs" that a treaty providing for a European defense force will be ratified.

Earlier Dulles had been reported as telling the British he needed strong evidence of progress before the next meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council, set for April 23.

It appeared that Dulles and Stassen had tried to impress upon European leaders a feeling that the chances for getting adequate aid funds voted by Congress in the next few months hinge largely on whether steps which the U. S. considers essential for Western Europe defense are being taken.

Erie, Fred Heymann, of Warren and Erie, who recently lost a $54,000 civil suit in Common Pleas Court, has won his fight for a delay in the hearing on perjury charges against him. On a motion by Attorney Edward Carney, Judge Elmer L. Evans ruled that since a motion for a new trial, based on the $54,000 verdict, had not been disposed of, the court could not hear the perjury case at the February term of criminal court.

Their report stated that Walter Blackwell, 106 Myrtle street, driving east on Route 6, told them that he was blinded by oncoming lights as he went over the crossing, and his car sideswiped cars operated by Robert Roach, of Erie, and William Crecraft, 200 Main avenue, both headed west.

Death of Wage Controls Will Find Workers and Employers Wondering About Pay Boosts

New York (AP)—The death of wage controls will find both workers and employers wondering if another round of pay boosts is coming up.

And white collar men will be asking if the raise they hoped for—the raise that somehow got stuck in the paperwork involved in controls or was pared back from what the boss said he'd like to give—will now be a possibility again.

Pressure for higher wages will doubtless be increased in several quarters as wage controls end. With employment at a record high and unemployment slight—with industrial activity at a peak and many skilled workmen hard to find—labor will be in a good bargaining position if time to re-open contracts tolls around during the present business boom.

But several rounds of pay boosts since the war have lifted wages high in many industries and management is getting more stubborn as operating costs pinch profit margins.

First test of what is likely to follow the end of controls may be found in some 10,000 applications before the Wage Stabilization Board for new and higher pay scales.

Will these pay hikes automatically go into effect for thousands of workers? Or will some of the cases be re-opened in labor-management negotiations?

The latter possibility is seen because many of the applications were made—not for what labor-management negotiators were ready to agree upon—but for the maximum they thought they could get by the board.

Pressure also may arise from workers who were granted pay hikes by the board in the past—but pay raises that were smaller than the company had been willing to allow.

Businessmen think another sort of pressure for higher wages might arise if the ending of price controls brings about scattered price hikes in consumer goods. Most businessmen doubt, however, that any general price hike is likely at this time.

A "TOP EXPERIENCE"

The Boy Scouts of America, now observing its 43rd birthday during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, is planning its Third National Jamboree for this summer as part of its Three Year Program known as "Forward on Liberty's Team."

It will be a "once-in-a-lifetime" experience for 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers and Scout Leaders of all races and creeds who will live in a democratic tent city that will rise on a real western ranch near the Pacific Ocean.

The owners of Irvine Ranch in the Newport Harbor area in southern California, about forty miles southeast of Los Angeles have loaned a 3,000-acre site to the Boy Scouts of America. Here will spring up, literally overnight, a city of 30,000 tents, with its own electricity, water supply, sanitation, telephone system, food supply, doctors, fire protection, in fact all essentials found in a community of this size.

Boys from all walks of life, of all races and creeds will live together, including about 200 Scouts from other countries around the world. Here in the youthful city they will exchange skills, home-town products and learn about the customs and traditions of many sections of the nation.

There will be pageants and ceremonies, campfires and music, demonstrations of crafts and Scoutcraft, friendship-making and the opportunity of meeting some of America's outstanding citizens.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, sees the Jamboree as a "top experience in the life of a boy" and we hope our area will be well represented. Any Scout or Explorer who wants to attend will undoubtedly use all his Scout ingenuity to make the trip possible.

JUST TALKING TO HIMSELF

Chou En-Lai, Chinese Communist premier, foreign minister and spinner of fantasies, has bounced in with that hardy perennial, an offer of a Korean armistice on Red terms.

As anyone could quickly recognize, there was nothing new in it. The same absurd proposal, to have a cease-fire now and settle the prisoner of war issue later, was tried unsuccessfully before the UN last fall.

Since the Communists clearly know the thing won't be taken seriously by the UN or any of its members fighting in Korea, why do they trouble?

Probably they thought their phony sweet talk would sound good to Asiatic ears after all the fuss tamped up over President Eisenhower's order freeing Chiang Kai-shek's troops to raid the Chinese mainland.

Well, it might make a little impression in India, where the gullible leaders never stop nourishing the hope there may be a shred of honesty somewhere in the Communist make-up. But to all others, Chou En-Lai was simply testing his vocal cords.

SOMETHING TO BE GAINED

All of a sudden the Hollywood movie-makers have gone overboard on three-dimensional films. Agitated by the competition from expanding television, impressed by the huge crowds flocking to experimental showings of 3-D films, the big studios believe the time has come for a whole new approach.

Right now they haven't settled on any one 3-D technique. Some methods call for a conventional film screen, but the movie-goer must don glasses with polaroid lenses to get the sense of added depth and perspective.

Others demand a greatly enlarged, curved screen. Special camera techniques provide images that fill that whole area, which nearly corresponds to the arc covered by human vision.

Even though theater owners won't like the expense of enlarging screens, there's a feeling the latter system may win out in the end. Hollywood thinks people won't care to put on special glasses every time they visit a theater. But they may find the customers welcoming the specs at first. They'll help to conceal eyes that are red from watching TV.

Congratulations to Zonta members and the committee in charge of the March of Dimes campaign in particular for the success of the campaign to raise funds locally to help fight polio. All concerned must be highly gratified over the results.

A Hero's life Ain't What It's Cracked Up to Be

Here And There

Not many citizens in or around Warren can recall the devastating flood that visited the borough seventy years ago, when three bridges over the Conewango were washed away and thousands of dollars worth of damage inflicted on private property. Regarding the disaster the Warren Ledger of February 9, 1883, had the following to say:

The flood which broke upon this part of the country last Saturday night, in consequence of a prolonged rain, did great damage to property in various places. At Warren, three bridges across the Conewango were taken away—the covered bridge, the only main thoroughfare to Glade and the country to the east, went down at about one o'clock Sunday morning. The covered bridge was built in 1845. It had been repaired occasionally, but had been a good bridge, and might have lasted many more years had the flood let it alone. Application is now made for a charter to build a toll bridge. A toll bridge would undoubtedly be good property to the owners, but this is an age when toll bridges are unpopular. People would rather be taxed to pay for them than have to pay a fine each time of passing over. It would seem to be a more satisfactory way to have a free bridge. A toll bridge will be built much quicker than a free bridge would be. The Fifth street bridge had been condemned, and had not been used for a long time. The other was a wire suspension foot bridge, which may be rebuilt. It was erected several years ago, by subscription, and has been a benefit to both Glade and Warren. At present, communication between the two points is made by boat, on skiffs. Teams are compelled to go around via Suspension Bridge at Warren, and Glade Run bridge.

It has been suggested that the way to build a bridge over the Conewango, and lighten the burden, is to borrow enough of the Rouse Road Fund as a perpetual loan, and pay the interest; that the Rouse Fund as now managed is liable at no distant day to be gobbled up and lost; that the only way to keep it is to put it into permanent and safe investments. That to loan it to the county would be so doing. To do this would require legislation; and some would grumble because each taxpayer would not use the structure equally with another. In short, the county would have to pay the interest on a bridge connecting Glade with Warren. Well, suppose the whole $79,000 were thus appropriated. It would be for the good of the country, and maintain the Rouse Fund intact. This is an idea. How many like it? One thing is very certain, and that is that a toll bridge will not long answer the purpose. A free bridge is needed, and a free bridge will be erected, notwithstanding a corporate body builds one; and the free bridge will get the business.

With all the rain we have had, the great body of snow still lies upon the ground, particularly in the forests. This is filled with water. Had the warm weather continued, or had the weather been warm during the prolonged rain, we should have had a flood unknown to this country. Notwithstanding the freezing weather following the rain, the water in the river high for several days. It was the sudden change of temperature that prevented a more disastrous flood than came.

GOP Solons to Desert Capital For Local Lincoln's Day Fetes

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Washington won't have any big Republican Lincoln's Birthday celebration this year, unless plans for one are whipped up at the last minute. The principal reason is that all District of Columbia Republicans worked themselves nearly to death on the inaugural. They're just now beginning to catch their breath.

Also, there's a feeling among Republican leaders that any further celebration now—within a month after inauguration—would be an anticlimax.

There's further reason for not holding a big rally here in that most of the speakers of national prominence will be out in the states, attending local Lincoln's Birthday celebrations and related victory dinners.

So far there have been no Republican rallies scheduled for Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia, North Carolina, Florida and Virginia. But Alabama will have one, in Birmingham.

Texas is planning a big GOP rally. First idea was to hold it in Houston, but they couldn't find a hall big enough. So the scene is now tentatively being shifted to Dallas.

Some of the dinners may be held in early spring. A few of them, in the south, might even be held in the period when the Democrats normally hold their Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners—from March 15 to April 13.

For the Republicans to hold rallies in this period would be part of the strategy to develop and expand the beachhead in the south, won by President Eisenhower in the last election.

A PRELIMINARY estimate is that the Republicans will clear about $100,000 on the Eisenhower inaugural ceremonies. Tickets to everything were sold out completely, and in some cases oversold. Ten days after everybody had gone home, the inaugural ball committee was still sending out invitations and tickets.

All but about $15,000 of the estimated $100,000 profit will be turned over to various charities. The money being held out is to be kept as a nest egg to enable the next inaugural committee to get going in 1956.

"JACK DANIELS" distillery at Lynchburg, Tenn., has been given U. S. Tax Court permission to obtain a deposition from ex-Vice President John N. Garner of Uvalde, Tex., on the "standing, reputation and quality" of "Jack Daniels."

Conditions under which this situation arose grew out of two government suits against the distillery, charging it with deficiencies in income and excess profits tax payments over several years.

The company denies the claim, and in building up its defense will present testimonials from Mr. Garner and other distinguished citizens on the character of "Jack Daniels." Mr. Garner, it will be remembered, was called "an evil, whisky-drinking old man," by John L. Lewis because the V. P. used to "strike a blow for freedom" in his chambers, after hours.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER's appointments to the United Nations posts—Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Mrs. Oswald B. Lord and James J. Wadsworth, Jr.—have been given instructions to do a lot of speech-making and writing on behalf of UN.

It is reported that the President feels people don't know enough about what goes on in UN and what it does to promote world peace and the spreading of democratic ideas. U. S. representatives to the UN are therefore to be given the added chore of selling the UN program to the country.

Terse, Tart and Timely: An announcement from the Marienville Glass Company reveals that C. R. Deible, who has been plant manager, at that place, has been transferred to the central offices of Knox Glass Associates at Knox.

Lincoln's birthday, is a legal holiday, which means among other things, that banks will be closed February 12th. . . . Congressman Carroll D. Kearns, who has spoken a number of times in Warren, has been appointed as chairman of a sub-committee on public service, streets and traffic of the District of Columbia committee, House of Representatives, which deals with the operation and service of police, firemen, streets and traffic in the capital. . . . The sunshine of Friday and Saturday inspired considerable activity among area maple syrup producers and it is reported that a large number of trees were tapped. . . . Police Chief F. Marion Sheffer, of Franklin, is receiving congratulations of sportsmen throughout the district for his perfect score, an even 100, for his offhand shooting in a rifle match with the Fryburg Club last week.

There are some among those who formed the class that graduated from the recent fire fighting training school conducted here who are wondering if they are to be given an opportunity to make their schooling and experience available to the borough department in event an emergency arises that extra help may be deemed advisable. . . . A "happy birthday" serenade that must have come as a surprise, was given Dr. Wally Sedwick during the ladies' night part at the Elk Club Saturday evening. . . . And it was the second appearance within the week for Bob Schindler in his popular whistling accompaniment to the orchestra, having favored the Past Exalted Rulers night crowd with a similar performance Tuesday evening. . . . Arch Bristow, sage of Garland, dropped in for one of his inspiring and interesting chats while on a business trip to Warren Saturday morning.

RIDE THE BUS

I see plenty of snarled-up traffic every day . . . . . auto drivers losing their tempers . . . . . putting themselves in a bad mood for the tasks ahead. I often wonder if they know how easily they can avoid high blood pressure by accepting the service we can give them.

In recent years, city traffic problems have developed faster than they could be solved—the thousands of bus riders in Erie take it for granted they'll reach their destinations promptly, relaxed and refreshed by smooth-riding comfort.

THE LINCOLN COUNTRY

Sketched on the Spot by Ralph Lane

NO. 2—RURAL DELIVERY
Sam Hill and John McNair opened New Salem's first store. The two-story cabin was the last to close when the village died. It was here that New Salem's post office started with Hill as postmaster. Because of incompetence, Hill was discharged, and Lincoln was appointed postmaster. Using his hat as a mailbox, Lincoln delivered mail to the citizens of the village until 1836 when the office was suspended. On Lincoln's birthday in 1940, Postmaster General James Farley reopened the replica after 104 years, this time as part of "Lincoln's New Salem."

Ladies' Party At Elks Lodge Proves Outstanding Event

Over 350 persons enjoyed the annual mid-winter party staged Saturday evening by the Warren Elks for its members and their ladies.

All facilities of the commodious clubhouse were made available to the women guests and the evening was spent at various pastimes including cards, billiards, pool, bowling, etc.

Others enjoyed watching the television, but the feature that provided the most entertainment was dancing in the auditorium to the music of Orrie Beebe and his summer, declared the best that has been heard at the club for many months.

Excited Ruler Jack MacDonald, in an unusually inspiring manner, gave the eleven o'clock toast. Bob Schindler favored with several whistling numbers, accompanied by Mr. Beebe, and Bill Duff took a turn at the drums to the enjoyment of the large crowd. "Pike" Peterson pleased with his monolog and juggling performance.

The house committee, under the chairmanship of Myron Check, served a delicious lunch at twelve o'clock, after which activities were resumed until two a. m.

The entertainment committee, under the direction of Chairman L. M. Whiteshot, left nothing undone to make the evening a memorable one for guests and members. Assisting were all officers of the lodge, headed by the exalted ruler.

County Boy Scout Council Ends Year With 1000 Members

For the first time in the history of Boy Scouting in Warren County, December 31, 1952 found 1,014 Cub Scouts and Explorers as members of the Warren County Council.

Figures released by C. H. Gardner of Ludlow, chairman of Organization and Extension, reveal that as of that date there are 402 Cub Scouts; 523 troop members, and 89 Explorers in Explorer Posts.

In addition to the boy membership the Council has a total of 587 adults registered which includes Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, Explorer Advisors and Den Mothers in addition to committeemen, council members and executive board members.

Mr. Gardner also pointed with pride to the fact that of the same date there are 50 units serving the boyhood of Warren county and Ludlow. According to Mr. Gardner this is the greatest number of Scout Units ever available to provide Scouting to the boys who want to be Scouts. He added however that there are still places where boys want to be Scouts but cannot because of the lack of adult cooperation and leadership.

He added that the members of his committee have traveled in excess of 5,000 miles in 1952 in trying to meet those demands from the youth of the area for more Scout units.

Since 1910, more than 20,200,000 boys and men have been members of the Boy Scouts of America.

Congress granted a federal charter to the Boy Scouts of America in 1916.

Idaho leads all states of the Union in virgin pine stands.

Large Number Boy Scouts Camp Out

In spite of inclement weather on Friday evening about 100 Boy Scouts and their Leaders camped out, pitching tents and cooking their meals.

As the dawn broke on Saturday morning and the sun's rays came over the eastern horizon threads of smoke from at least a dozen campfires drifted skyward as breakfast was prepared and camp cleaned up for the visitors.

Each camp was visited by not only interested parents who were concerned in the amount of sleep as well as the quality of the food, but also came curious spectators and groups of youngsters planning to do the same thing when they become old enough.

Troops participating in this experience of meeting nature's challenge in the roughest season include 2 of Grace Methodist Church, Fred Watt, Scoutmaster. 6 of St. Joseph's Church Joe Acks, Scoutmaster, 11 of Lacy P.T.A. Eugene Shine, Scoutmaster, 19 of Columbus P.T.A. Joe Krivonak, Scoutmaster and 20 of Lottsville Odd Fellows, Jim Fitzgerald Scoutmaster.

More than 1,800,000 Boy Scouts, Cubs and Explorers took part in the "Get Out the Vote" campaign in 1952.

50,000 Scouts to Form the Largest Camp in Free World During Third Nat'l Jamboree

July 17, 1953 will mark the opening date of the Third National Jamboree to be held at Santa Ana, California. 50,000 Scouts from these United States and 20 foreign countries will camp in this huge tent city—a bigger population than all of Warren County.

It will be a "once in a life-time" experience for 35 Scouts and 4 Leaders of the Warren County Council.

Entirely aside from the Scouting Skills they will learn and the fun they will have living with these 50,000 Scouts, spiritual values loom most important. Every Scout will return home with certain memories indelibly impressed upon him—the religious observances held for all faiths—the grand convocation held on Sunday evening, July 19th to memorialize the Brotherhood of Scouting and the Twelfth Scout Law.

The Jamboree will be held on the Irvine Ranch, Santa Ana, California. This is one of the few remaining Spanish grant ranches. Just a few miles to the south lies Mexico and more than one Scout will swim in the Pacific Ocean. The whole Irvine Ranch organization is cooperating completely in order to make this Jamboree the best ever. Mr. Myford Irvine is serving as host for the Irvine Company who own the ranch. Food will be cooked by individual patrols with daily delivery of all food stuffs. Special refrigeration will be provided for all perishables. Tents, cook stoves, and other gear is being provided by the Warren County Council.

Utmost precautions are being taken to insure each Scout's health, safety and comfort, from the time he leaves home until his return.

Plans announced by the Warren County Committee headed by Jim Blomquist indicate that a delegation will board a special train at Jamestown on the evening of July 8 traveling overnight to Chicago. Stops will also be made at Kansas City and Grand Canyon on the way out with arrival scheduled for the 14th at Santa Ana. A three-day pre-Jamboree camp for training purposes is scheduled for the 14, 15, and 16th of July. This will mean that all will be in readiness with our delegation for the grand opening on the 17th.

On the return trip tentative plans include stops at Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak, the Garden of the Gods and Denver with every effort made to include Salt Lake City.

Our delegation will arrive back in Jamestown the 30th of July.

Area Finance Campaign To Set Under Way During Week

In addition to the many Unit activities of Boy Scout Week, the Warren County Council is completing preparations for its annual finance campaign in the county area not presently covered by the Community Chest.

Much work is being done behind the scenes to raise this money to carry on the Scouting activities of the Council. Ivan S. Umagim, Council finance chairman and his co-workers have been busy completing lists and checking workers this week, more than 10 workers representing as many units will be calling on their neighbors and friends requesting their assistance in support of this most worthwhile program.

Some of the dividends of the Scouting program which are shared by every member of the community are these: Citizenship Responsibility, Community Cooperation, Self-Reliance, A Growing-Up program for boys age 8 through 18, and Development of Men of character.

The objective of the finance campaign is that each worker will support one Scout. The cost per Scout is $15.00 based on the membership figures of 1,000 Scouts and a budget of $15,000. The budget has been approved by the executive Board and the Warren Community Chest.

Grand Valley Plans Troop of Boy Scouts

The Evangelical United Brethren Church at Grand Valley is a forward step in providing activities for the young folks of Grand Valley. They have agreed to sponsor the Scouting program in the community. A new Troop has been organized and is registered, with Fred Holcomb as the Scoutmaster. Wayne Weldon is serving as the assistant. Their first activity for the youth of the community was a public motion picture last week.

Troop Committee members include Alvin Russell, E. R. Van-Guilder, Paul Davis, and The Rev. David Ostrander as Chairman and Institutional Representative. Seven Scouts and nine Explorers make up the Troop roster.

Sheffield Church Has Impressive Ceremonies

At impressive ceremonies in the Lutheran Church in Sheffield, the Rev. Hans Pearson, pastor, presented to Scout John E. Sleeman the Pro Deo et Patria Award.

This award is bestowed by the Lutheran Church in recognition of services rendered to a local congregation. The recipient must attend the Lutheran Church and must be a Boy Scout of at least First Class Rank.

Similar awards are bestowed by the Catholic Church, the Jewish Faith, and the other Protestant denominations.

Troop 35 of Sheffield and the members of Cub Pack 35 were present in honor of Boy Scout Sunday and this occasion. Also present were the members of the congregation and the committee of these two Units. Robert Gustafson is Scoutmaster of troop 35.

Churches of all faiths sponsor about half the nation's 84,800 Boy Scout Troops, Cub Packs and Explorer Units.

Chapter Eight

HE stood in the rear doorway of this long room, making an indistinct shape far back in the smoke-hazed shadows.

Rimbaud peered at him, wondering who he was and what he wanted. Then, recalling what he'd seen in the bar mirror, Rimbaud understood that it was Ernie Link.

"Let's drink us another toast," Limpy Smith suggested.

"Vamose," Rimbaud ordered, guessing what Link was up to. "Get away from me, friend—get away."

Smith couldn't comprehend the abrupt change in his drinking companion; the astonishing shift from chuckling cheerfulness to frowning gravity. Rimbaud had seemed so different, like he wanted to be sociable. But he was like all the rest, chasing a man off like he had smallpox. It was downright pitiful. "What hit you all of a sudden?" Limpy asked.

And at this same instant, as Rimbaud drew his gun, Ernie Link shouted in a shrill, high-pitched voice, "Step aside, Limpy! Step aside!"

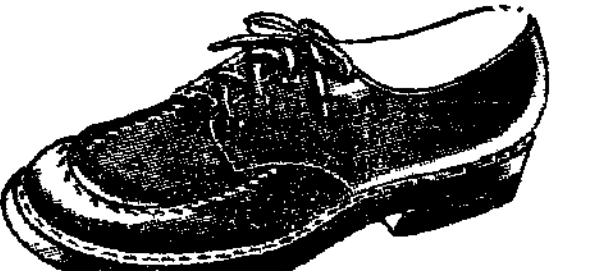

But it was Rimbaud who moved. Wheeling away from the bar, he smashed the front bracket lamp with a shot that merged with the blast of Link's gun. That bullet whanged past Rimbaud's head to shatter a front window. Using the muzzle flare for a target, Rimbaud fired twice and stepped aside and heard Link yelp. "I'm hit!"

Rimbaud flicked a glance at Lew Stromberg, who stood in the bright island of light over by the poker table. The Roman Four boss was flattened against the wall with the others. He very plainly wanted to stay out of this fight.

"What's going on in there?" a man shouted from the street.

Rimbaud probed the yonder shadows and waited, gun in hand. Even though Link was wounded, he might be playing possum, waiting for another try. The sneaky son had figured he would have all the best of it, standing back there and shooting at a lamplight target. But Limpy Smith had got in the way. That realization brought a cynical smile to Rimbaud's compressed lips. The drunken dishwasher was about the sorriest companion a man could have siding him in a fight.

Chapter Nine

WHEN Eve saw Charley Bonn come out of the Shiloh, she maneuvered to meet him midway across the street. The old homesteader appeared worried. He said, "That shows what Stromberg will do to grab a piece of Strip graze. Link made it look like a personal grudge between him and Rimbaud, but it was meant to be a chop-down, pure and simple."

"Is Jim still at the saloon?" Eve asked.

Bonn nodded. "I tried to talk him into leaving town with me, but Rimbaud said he had to help Limpy Smith finish off a quart of bourbon. Some darn foolishness about how important it was to drink twenty toasts."

"So Limpy has taken up with Jim," murmured Eve. And then she said something that didn't make sense to Charley Bonn: "Sam isn't a drinking man, thank God."

Bonn was wondering about that as he drove out of town with his wife. When he repeated Eve's words to Maria she said, "The poor girl had a drunkard for a father, and is set on having a sober man for a husband. Anyone with a lick of sense would understand her feeling the way she does."

"But what's Rimbaud being drunk got to do with it?" Bonn asked.

"He could've been an old flame of Eve's for all we know," Maria suggested with feminine intuition. "Seems like I remember hearing Faith Shumway mention something about him sparkin' Eve Odegarde when he was here before."

"I wouldn't put no store in what Faith Shumway says, one way or the other," Charley muttered. "She's got a waggy tongue."

Presently, as Della Stromberg's rig went past in dust-swirling haste, Mrs. Bonn said, "You should've seen how she snubbed Eve right in front of folks, tonight. It was downright brazen. You'd of thought Eve was some Burro Alley trolop the way Della treated her."

"Maybe it's the other way around," Charley said.

"What do you mean by that?"

"Nothing," Charley muttered. "Not at all."

Street with blood streaming from his right arm. Charley has gone over to find out what happened.

Eve went toward the hotel and presently, meeting Sheriff Robillard, asked, "Who did the shooting?"

"Ernie Link and Jim Rimbaud," Robillard said.

"Did Jim get hit too?" Eve asked.

"Not a scratch," Robillard reported. "There's a bad one for any man to tangle with, that Rimbaud. The man is a born fighter, and has the luck of the Irish besides. Ernie should've known better. They say he started it, and that he also pistol-whipped Swede Severide out here on the street. I've warned Lew Stromberg there's to be no more of that stuff, or Link will be locked up."

"And what did Mr. Roman Four say?" Eve asked with frank skepticism.

"Well, you know how Lew is," Robillard said evasively. "He told me if I'd catch the Spanish Strip cow thieves that need arresting there'd be no room in jail for a Roman Four man."

"Do you think Sam Maiben is a thief?" Eve asked, and when Robillard's eyes avoided her steady appraisal, she prompted, "Do you, Sol?"

"It's not a question of what I think, one way or the other," Robillard explained with the practiced fluency of a born politician. "I have a warrant for Maiben's arrest, which will be executed to the best of my ability. After that it's up to a judge and jury."

Eve shrugged, understanding that Sol Robillard would never allow anything to interfere with his ambition to become a member of the territorial legislature. A man needed the big cow outfits behind him to reach that exalted goal. And Sol Robillard, who had once borrowed money from a parlor-house madam, intended to reach it.

She wondered where Sam was now, and if he was hungry. The poor man had been chased for hours. He might be laying out there in the brush somewhere wounded. Or dead. And whatever happened to him would be because of her. Lew Stromberg had made that plain enough the last time he'd called on her; he'd said, "You'll regret your foolish choice many times, and so will Maiben."

THE pistol shots, heard throughout Junction, had set off a welter of excitement. Rumors ran along Main Street like a flash flood, growing more fantastic with each repetition. A shirtless man leaned from a second-story hotel window and shouted, "They must've chased Sam Maiben right into town!"

Another man, hearing this as he ran down Residential Avenue, voiced the opinion that Maiben had been shot on Main Street. By the time these reports reached Dulcy Fay's place on Burro Alley they included the startling news that Sheriff Robillard had chased Maiben into a vacant lot and was shooting it out with him, man to man.

"Good gracious!" Dulcy exclaimed, hugely pleased. "Sol will be a hero!"

The whole town was goggled with excitement. In the few moments it took Eve Odegarde to walk from her home to Steinfeld's Mercantile she heard announcements that Sam had been captured, that Swede Severide had shot Ernie Link, and that Jim Rimbaud was mixed in the shooting. Now, as she identified Della Stromberg in the sidewalk crowd, Eve asked, "What happened?"

Della gave her a brief glance and shrugged, thus expressing an inherent dislike for the woman her father had wanted to marry. But Charley Bonn's wife said, "Ernie Link came out Saloon

But it was Rimbaud who moved. Wheeling away from the bar, he smashed the front bracket lamp with a shot that merged with the blast of Link's gun. That bullet whanged past Rimbaud's head to shatter a front window. Using the muzzle flare for a target, Rimbaud fired twice and stepped aside and heard Link yelp. "I'm hit!"

Rimbaud flicked a glance at Lew Stromberg, who stood in the bright island of light over by the poker table. The Roman Four boss was flattened against the wall with the others. He very plainly wanted to stay out of this fight.

"What's going on in there?" a man shouted from the street.

Rimbaud probed the yonder shadows and waited, gun in hand. Even though Link was wounded, he might be playing possum, waiting for another try. The sneaky son had figured he would have all the best of it, standing back there and shooting at a lamplight target. But Limpy Smith had got in the way. That realization brought a cynical smile to Rimbaud's compressed lips. The drunken dishwasher was about the sorriest companion a man could have siding him in a fight.

HE stood in the rear doorway of this long room, making an indistinct shape far back in the smoke-hazed shadows.

Rimbaud peered at him, wondering who he was and what he wanted. Then, recalling what he'd seen in the bar mirror, Rimbaud understood that it was Ernie Link.

"Let's drink us another toast," Limpy Smith suggested.

"Vamose," Rimbaud ordered, guessing what Link was up to. "Get away from me, friend—get away."

Smith couldn't comprehend the abrupt change in his drinking companion; the astonishing shift from chuckling cheerfulness to frowning gravity. Rimbaud had seemed so different, like he wanted to be sociable. But he was like all the rest, chasing a man off like he had smallpox. It was downright pitiful. "What hit you all of a sudden?" Limpy asked.

And at this same instant, as Rimbaud drew his gun, Ernie Link shouted in a shrill, high-pitched voice, "Step aside, Limpy! Step aside!"

Call Extended For Assistant Minister by Lutheran Church

At a congregational meeting held after the morning service on Sunday, First Lutheran church voted to extend a call to Stephen Hotscheck, Jr., to become its assistant pastor.

His acceptance of the call will be subject to his ordination by the Pittsburgh Synod, which meets at Washington, Pa., the last week in May.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hotscheck, Sr., of Carmichaels, Pa., the young ministerial student was born June 19, 1925, and was graduated from the Cumberland Township High School, Carmichaels, in 1943.

After spending three years with the SeaBees on the Island of Trinidad, he was graduated from Waynesburg College in 1950, with the degree of bachelor of arts.

He will graduate from the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia, with a bachelor of divinity degree, on May 21, 1953.

Intern work during his seminary career has included helping to establish a mission congregation near Philadelphia, also serving the summer as assistant to the superintendent of the Passavant Home for Epileptics at Rochester, Pa.

If he accepts the call, it will probably be around June 1st. He will serve as assistant pastor with the Rev. Frederick B. Haer, who was called to First church last September to succeed the Rev. E. K. Rogers, pastor here for many years.

Warren Is Lucky to Win Close Game from Corry

Key Outscore the Beavers in 1st Quarter

Although able to outscore the Warren High Dragons in the last two periods of play, a 15-2 first quarter deficit was too much for visiting Corry High cage team on the Beatty Junior High gymnasium Friday night and it was at away with the short end of 46-40 Section Two League division.

This outcome places the Blue and White floor-men in undisputed session of third place below the Oil City Oilers, who topped Franklin, 70-41, in a Friday night conquest, and Meadville, 34, victory over Titusville.

Coach Freddie Schwab's basketballers were unable to tally a single goal against the Warren zone in the first stanza to go behind, 15-2, and then come back outdistance the Dragons in the naming chapters. Cutting one point off in the second period, the Beavers lead in scoring, 23-19, in a last half.

Against the man for man Corry fence, Coach Joe Massa used Duell in place of Dick Hartnett in his starting lineup, along with Gary Ettinger, Bob Wilson, Isaacson, and Bob Harrington.

SHOOTING STARS—Harold Rogers, left, sparks Oklahoma A. and M. with all-around play-making. Jack Williams, center, is Wake Forest's sure shot. Norb Lewinski clears the backboards for Notre Dame. (NEA)

Of the eight Dragons to hit the "ring" column, every one had a direct flight from the foul line. Jerry Gordon, in all, the assassin made 14 in 17 tries to Corry's 12 in over 30 attempts.

John Gibson opened the first period with a free throw for Corry and it wasn't until after almost 10 minutes had passed before Wilson hit from the pivot and followed with a foul shot to give Corry a 3-1 lead that was never relinquished. Gary Ettinger's next score and then Jack Hartnett made Corry's second point of frame.

Taking advantage of their right, the Massmen took control of the boards and began to score. Wilson, who got all seven points in the first quarter in a long one-hander, followed by a shorter one, and then Isaacson and Ettinger each scored from the black line. The lead was closed with jump shots by Harrington and Isaacson.

Coach Massa revised his lineup a second period, leaving Duell in replacing the rest with Dick Hartnett, Jerry Leonard, Jerry Gordon and Dick Lundahl. By this time also, Coach Schwab had put Dick Elchynski in for more height and Bob Huxson.

Ed Hatch, who was second in conference scoring race, started the second quarter off for Corry. Duell matched it with a set and Leonard made a foul. A vo-pointer was made by Elchynski in for more height and Bob Huxson.

throw and Gibson made his foul with two seconds remaining.

Hatch, who was held to six points in the first three quarters, paced Corry's final attempt with seven points. Hartnett also had seven of Warren's 12-point fourth period.

Warren constructed a 14-point margin in the early part of the frame when Duell tallied a one-hander from the side. Hartnett got three points out of a layup, and Isaacson hit with a jump shot from the corner. Hatch had a free-throw.

The difference was shaved to eight points when Elchynski scored three charity throws and Hatch hit the rim twice in succession against Harrington's foul point. Hartnett and Hatch each made buckets and the former's two foul points matched Elchynski's, and Lloyd's before John Gibson closed the scoring with a twin-counter at the five second mark.

In the scoring line, Dick Hartnett was high man for Warren with 11 points, and he was followed by Gary Ettinger with 11 Game honors, however, went to Corry's Ed Hatch, who hit the hoop for 13. Elchynski had 12.

Tomorrow night the Dragons meet their formidable foe, the Kane High Wolves, in a return game at Kane. The Wolves, 62-47 victors over Warren in the local's second game of the season, currently have a string of 11 wins and a 13-1 season record.

Sheffield Remains in Fourth Place by Beating Emporium

Sheffield High's cage team evened its record at 4-4 in the Upper Allegheny Mountain League Friday night by trouncing Emporium, 77-43, at the Sheffield court. The victory kept the Santomen in fourth place.

At the same time Kane High was keeping its loop record clean by knocking off Wilcox 74-56, for its ninth victory, and Ridgway passed St. Mary's, 76-53.

A wild scoring first period sent the Wolverines ahead, 21-9, from where they built in the following stanzas. They also hit over the 20-point mark in the last frame.

Joe Piehuta turned out to be the big gun for the Wolverines hitting for 15 points, and he received plenty of assistance from Chuck Newman, Dave Gustafson, Dick Wenker and Larry Fitzgerald, who all hit for 10 or better. The night's laurels, however, went to Phillips of Emporium for his 18 points.

Tuesday night Coach Ralph Santo will take his team to Ridgway for a contest with the third place Elfers.

JOHNSONBURG MATMEN HERE ON THURSDAY

The Warren High School wrestling team has its schedule revised for this week and as a result will be making two road trips. Tonight the Dragons journey to Oil City for a match originally listed for February 25, and then on Thursday they go to Johnsonburg for a return meeting. The battle tonight is scheduled for 7:30 in the Senior High gym.

Tonight the Barrmen will have their hands full, although they tied the Oilers, 23-23, in a January match on the Beatty mats. Coach Blair Hildebrand's grapplers have come a long way since their initial encounter and the draw with the locals.

Currently the Oilers have a record of four wins, two losses and a tie. Losing to a strong Grove City squad in the season opener, the Oil City squad came back to beat the Grovers, 27-22, last Thursday. In addition they have defeated Titusville, two time winner over Warren, New Bethlehem and Franklin. The other loss was to Greenvale.

To date, Warren has licked Erie East and Johnsonburg and lost to Grove City along with the statistics mentioned earlier.

Lou Cummings, Glenn Cook and Den Brown will lead Coach Homer Barr's matmen against Oil City tonight. Cummings is the only undefeated Dragon with six wins in both the 95 and 105-pound classes. Cook has a 5-1 record at 138 and Brown has won four of his six in the 127-pound division. The probable lineups for tonight are:

WT. WARREN OIL CITY

95-L. Cummings	D. Petulla
103-W. Miller	L. Petulla
112-R. Smith	E. Petulla
120-R. Landers	D. Dolecki

Home Street Beats South, McClintock Swamps Lacy Five

What could have been the biggest upset of the Gra-Y Basketball League this season, turned into a 25-23 "sudden death" victory for Home Street in the opener against South on the "X" court Saturday afternoon. McClintock walked off with a 36-15 decision from Lacy in the second game for its eighth straight win.

Billy Brumagm tipped in the winning bucket for Home after Dick Fowler tied the game with a free throw as the game ended.

The underdog South Street boys led almost the entire game until Home rallied for 11 points in the last quarter.

Billy Mervine topped Home's scoring with 15 points, while Brumagm tallied eight and Hallett hit for two. For South, Kurtz Lester and Cassell shared honors with eight apiece. Fowler had three foul shots and Oestergard and Mascaro each hit for two.

McClintock started with a 19-0 first period lead and continued to roll from there. Game honors were shared by Joey Massa, Nicky Creola and Tom Watson with 10 counters each, and Castagnino and Rosenquist added three more apiece. Craig Johnson paced Lacy with seven, McCool had five and Hessler tallied three.

Next Saturday opens the third and final round of play.

Score by quarters:

Home Street 2 2 8 11 2-25

South 2 9 5 5 0-23

McClintock 9 15 12 4-36

Lacy 0 13 1 1-15

Officials: Jim Sturdevant and Jim Tridico; scorekeeper: Ken Hoffman; timer: E. Abrams.

Roger Bartoldson of Jamestown, Is Seventh Team National Winner

The Jamestown High School 1952 football team was honored Sunday with the announcement that 17-year-old Roger Bartoldson was named to the seventh team in the sixth annual National High School All-American football team selection by the Wigwag Wisemen America. Bartoldson was a 220-pound tackle for the Red Raiders.

Seven teams were named, including the names of only two Pennsylvanians, and an honorable mention list that has a roster of 681 listed. Thirty-two boys from Pennsylvania were on the latter.

Joe Walton, an end from Beaver Falls, was named to the third team, and Joe Cindrich, of Republic, was selected as a tackle for the fifth grid eleven.

BOROUGH PRINCIPALS HAVE BUSY SESSION

Continuation of the safety patrol and green pennant program, the use of consultants for in-service training of teachers, and the possibility of a speech and hearing conference were some of the items of business discussed when Carl Whipple, superintendent of Warren public schools, and Gerald Newton, director of instruction and curriculum, held the monthly administrative meeting with the principals at Warren Borough schools.

They also discussed activities for Warren High School's Future Teacher of America Club and the testing in classes to be done in February. Modern methods of cleaning blackboards and types of furniture for outfitting the new buildings were other phases of administration which they considered.

KINDERGARTEN TOTS TO PRESENT PROGRAM

Kindergarten classes, taught by Mrs. Mary Conway will be on the weekly Tuesday afternoon school broadcast. The children will begin their program at 2:30 with their opening exercises, using the reading of the Bible, the Lord's Prayer, and the salute to the flag and they will sing a few children's songs.

The project of the classes at the present time is a study of the types of homes different people and animals live in. The children will talk about the homes of bears, rabbits, Indians, etc. in their broadcast.

Mrs. Conway teaches the two kindergarten classes at the McClintock School, one in the mornings and the other in the afternoon.

PATIENTS IMPROVING

Their many friends will be gratified to learn that Hank Ledebur and wife, 103 Church street, North Warren, injured in an automobile accident near Butler January 29th, are both recovering satisfactorily. Mr. Ledebur was discharged from the Warren General Hospital Saturday and expects to resume regular activities this week. Mrs. Ledebur, who submitted to surgery on her right arm, will be confined to the hospital for several weeks, although her condition is reported as good.

OBSERVATION VISITS

Miss Esther Westendorf, educational consultant for one of the major school book publishing firms, made a series of observation visits in some of the elementary classrooms of Warren public schools last week. The visits will enable Miss Westendorf to discuss modern techniques in elementary classroom management when she comes back later in the semester.

Semi-Annual Clearance Sale Ever" Sweeping Over Nation

By HAL BOYLE
ew York (AP)—A powerful epidemic is reaching across America, affecting millions of households.
The malady usually picks as its victim the man-of-the-house.
It is spread by men's clothing, and carried into the home by newspapers. It is called "The Semi-Annual Clearance Sale Fever."
Symptoms: An itching in the wallet; accompanied by a delirious male urge to buy... buy... buy...
Treatment: The wise wife will let her little man enjoy the fever until it runs its course, and his wardrobe is re-stocked. It is the only known cure.
Since women do most of the buying today, special sales are held for them all over the calendar. But men get to exercise their hunting instincts only twice a year—during the storewide winter clearance, and the summer clearance held sometime after the Fourth of July.

IN 11TH AIRBORNE—Pvt. Everell A. Waite, son of Mrs. Floyd Waite, Russell RD 1, has been assigned to "B" Battery, 89th Field Artillery Battalion, of the famous 11th Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky., for his basic military training.

These are the only periods when many a papa gets to buy some pretty feathers for his very own self. The rest of the year he is doing out dough for the rest of the family.

But the morning he opens his paper and reads, "Sale! Men's suits, shirts, shoes marked down!" —Well, a wild look comes into his eyes.

He is like a hungry Indian who sees the track of a disabled deer in the snow. Off he sprints for the store, jammed with other bargain hunters.
They wave checkbooks and wallets, paw through shirt stacks, burrow into sock piles, and play tug-o-war with each other when they grab the same special-priced necktie. They are swept up in a group dance of swirling madness.
The salesmen stand on the outskirts, taking money from the survivors as they waddle out of the churning mass, their arms loaded with loot.

A man who shows up with his wife at a semi-annual clearance sale is not only regarded as henpecked by his fellow male bargain seekers, they feel he is stretching their chivalry too far. They hate to elbow-bruise a lady.
"Anybody who brings his wife along at a time like this," I once heard one grumble, "is like an Indian who'd drag his squaw with him on a buffalo hunt."

Five U. S. cities have a population of a million or more: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Los Angeles.

The private branch telephone system in Washington's Pentagon building is the largest of its kind in the world.

DESK CONTRAST

AP Newsfeatures

ALL CLEAR—President Eisenhower starts his work as chief executive with a clean desk. It contrasts with the desks of Presidents Truman and Roosevelt. Only the years will show whether the contrast represents a difference in temperament or only the fact that the new president has not had time to collect mementos.

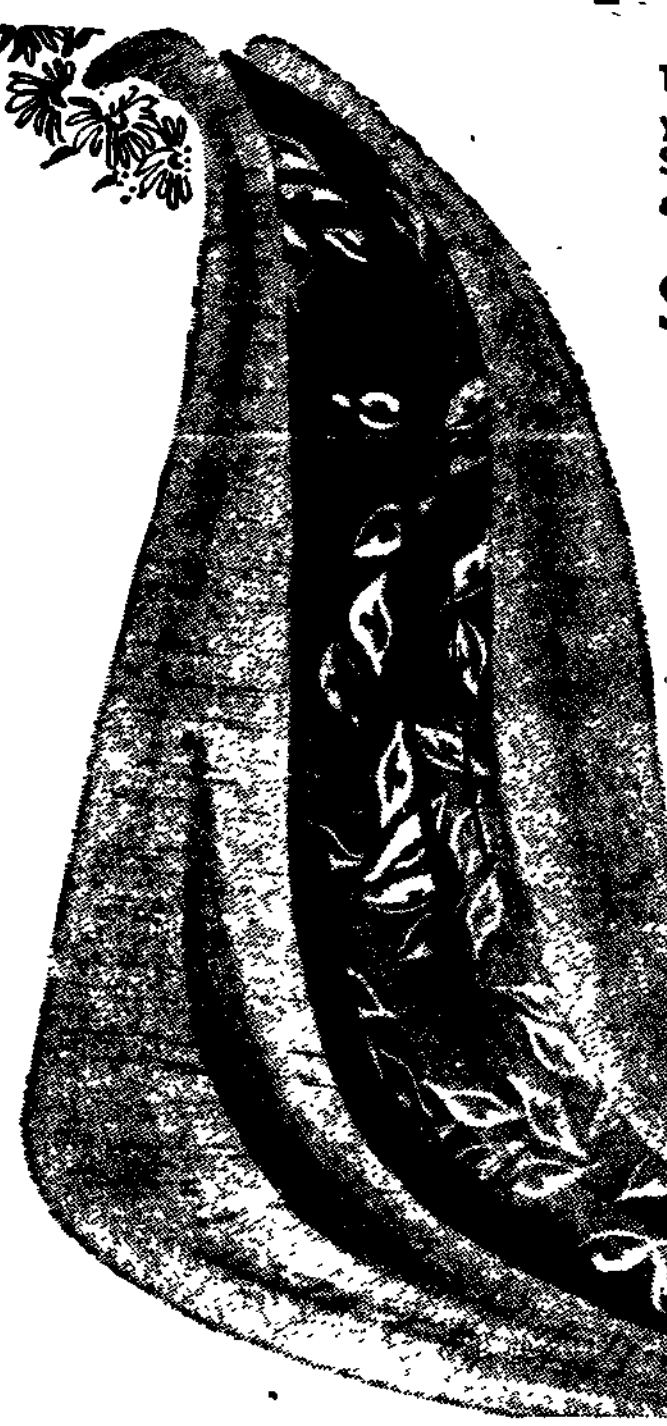

TRUMAN kept a number of things on his desk. In the center is a pile of news bulletins. There is a 1917 picture of Mrs. Truman, a piece of granite from Mt. McKinley between the pens, miniature donkeys, clocks, ash trays, calendars and a flag.

ROOSEVELT was noted for the knick-knack collection he kept on his desk. In addition he had pictures of his four sons who were in the service at the time.
